Editorial

In times of great chaos and uncertainty, when evil is abounding, what comfort to know that we are serving a Sovereign God. Hearts can be at rest, knowing that “the earth is the Lord’s, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.” And just as the scripture declares that God has placed the sand as a boundary for the sea, an eternal decree, so it cannot cross over it, so the proud rulers of this world have great limitations decreed upon them. Though the waves toss themselves, yet they cannot prevail; though they roar, yet they cannot cross over it. (Jeremiah 5:22). Do you hear them roaring? As waves, do you see them defiantly tossing their long-planned, anti-God agendas upon earth’s shores?

Lies couched behind smokescreens of so-called pandemics, climate alarmism, and wars, perpetuating threats and fears of doom to subjugate the masses and disintegrate their rights. Nothing new under the sun—it is an age-old stratagem. One more time, dear readers, I encourage you to disengage from mainstream media. They lie, oh, how they lie! You are being propagandized.

Dig through the holes in the walls of the institutes of man, secular and religious, and behold the whore of Revelation 17 at work. She is that great city Babylon “which reigns over the kings of the earth” (Revelation 17:8; 14:8; 18:21), and is reeking havoc in God’s earth.

She sets herself against the city of God, but a prophetic proclamation has been decreed of old. The consummation of this battle is at hand. Flee Babylon, get close to God and triumph in this last and great battle of all time.

Wars and rumours of wars are at hand. Dear readers, let us unite in prayer for all those suffering in war-torn countries. May we also remember that we are all part of the one human family. For this human family, let us stand.

ARMAGEDDON NEWS

REPORTED BY BRO. DANIEL EICHELBERGER

News is an eternal thing in a transient sort of way. As long as there are human beings on this earth, there is no end to it. And, since mankind is sinful and rebellious, there is no shortage of bad news. Few are the reports from Armageddon that are uplifting or positive on the human level. The human level is, after all, dirt level, and the blood is already up to the horse's bridles. And so, we present you with more outrages to righteous sensibilities in this installment. Read on and be informed.

Interrupted Prayer

What is the price for silent prayer? Isabel Vaughan-Spruce of Birmingham, England knows the answer. Vaughan-Spruce was recently harassed and arrested by police for the second time in a year as she stood silently outside an abortion clinic with her eyes closed. Her latest arrest comes just weeks after a UK court cleared her of criminal charges for her first arrest in December 2022.

In a cell phone video of the latest incident, police are seen interrogating Vaughan-Spruce as to her intentions. She repeatedly told them she was praying "in her head." Police told her that was an offense, according to a Birmingham Public Space Protection Order, which establishes a buffer zone around abortion clinics. The order specifically names prayer, "with respect to issues related to abortion services," as a form of protesting, and as such it is banned within the buffer zone.

A September 2023 YouGov UK poll found that "three quarters of Britons support banning people from protesting outside abortion clinics."

Vaughan-Spruce is the Director of the UK March for Life. May her silent prayers be heard.

What is a Woman?

Matt Walsh famously asked and explored this question in his popular 2022 documentary. Apparently, Michigan lawmakers are still stumped and no closer to an answer. They recently voted to remove the words "woman" and "she" from the state's 2014 breastfeeding law to make it more "gender neutral."

State Senator Michele Hoytenga, a Republican, had sought to preserve the female-specific language of the law by introducing an amendment, but it failed. "As far as I'm aware, women, specifically mothers, are the only people who can breastfeed or pump milk," she said. Her Democrat (and a few of her fellow Republican) colleagues were confused enough about plain language and biology to disagree with her.

Meanwhile, in Arkansas, Governor Sara Huckabee Sanders has signed an executive order that bans the use of certain gender-neutral terms by government employees and official documents. "We're all here today to say, frankly, that we've had enough," she said before signing the order. "Enough trying to erase women and girls, enough denying our biological differences from men, and enough of the craziness that is taking over our country."

Sanders is the first woman and the first mother to serve as governor of Arkansas.

Perhaps a phone call to their friends in the South might have helped the good (?) Michigan lawmakers with their confusion.

Vaxx Law Challenged

Public and private schools and daycares in California are forbidden by law from exempting children from vaccinations for any reason other than medical. Advocates for Faith & Freedom, however, are suing the state's Attorney General Rob Bantam, citing religious discrimination. The law, SB277, was originally signed by former Governor Jerry Brown in 2015.

According to Fox News, the complaint states that California "allows immigrant and homeless children to attend public and private schools without proof of vaccination," and "California cannot demonstrate that religiously exempt students pose a greater risk than secular exempt students. The exempt, unvaccinated children under SB277 are still free to sweat in weekend sports leagues together, participate in public extracurricular activities, and sit through hours of services at churches and synagogues."

The reader is forgiven for thinking the complaint makes perfect sense, because it absolutely does. But its success in the courts remains to be seen. We are talking about California, after all. Land of smoggy L.A. and smoggy political minds that think up is down and down is up. If they fail at the state level, Advocates for Faith & Freedom are hopeful that their suit will be taken up by the conservative-controlled U.S. Supreme Court.

And thus, the news! 📺

Due to extreme amounts of LGBTQ propaganda, we are now seeing a serious rise in castration, sterilization, and mutilation clinics for children.

In the last 15 years, the United States has gone from zero to over 100 clinics for children's sex change surgeries. The biggest single policy catalyst for this explosion is Obama Care. When enacted in 2010, they quietly wrote into law a provision in which insurance companies were mandated to provide coverage for “medically necessary” gender affirming care. As a result of that, between 2010 and 2016, there was a 50% increase in sex reassignment surgeries, 25% increase in insurance coverage for transgender individuals.

At the very end of the Obama administration, an additional amendment was made whereby gender identity could no longer be a basis for denial of coverage by private insurance companies. As a result, between 2016 and 2017, there was a 150% increase in sex reassignment surgeries in the USA.

Very early on, the Trump administration revoked this provision. The Biden administration put it back in place within the first 100 days.

LOVE—is it not the subject and desire of the ages? The theme of songs, novels, and movies? The soul of humanity is athirst for love.

What is love? Ah, the great question. The Apostle John declared that “God is love.” He is the consummate definition of love. Who can take up the subject of love? To do so is to handle God. It is to explore a is the text for the universe and the most complete summary of all laws and standards of righteousness.

The sum total of the purpose of holiness and righteous practices is to create an environment where the current of love can flow in its uncorrupted purity and power.

Sadly, religious professors abound not simply a knowledge of love, but an experience, a relationship, and a communion with Love.

Today, a divided and weak Christendom seeks to find the power and blessings of God in the miraculous, in the mystical, in signs and wonders. Surely these things dwell with God and are for His people, yet they seek the gift rather than the Giver,

A Divine Love Relationship

shoreless sea. Love cannot be fully known without knowing God intimately. Many profess love for God, yet few possess it, even among professed Christians.

We are made in the image of God, in the image of the love and the fellowship that He had with Himself from eternity. The purpose of the human family was to enter into this great eternal love relationship and procreate His image of love.

Love holds the balance of the universe. It is the electricity of life and the conductor of all its blessings—Peace, joy, health, happiness, and unity. It is the connection to the blessings and power of God.

Satan’s deception of our first parents in Eden gave rise to a proud, independent self-love, thus corrupting the balance of life, and consequently, sickness and death passed upon all men.

In time, Christ—the promised seed—came, preaching a simple but earth-shaking message. The one purpose of religion was to love God with all of one’s being and the second commandment was contained in the first—to love one’s fellow man as one’s self, for if a man loves God, he must of necessity love all men whom God created (Matthew 22:37-40).

Divine love is the supreme law. This who follow disciplines while void of the heart and soul on which the structure of all true religion stands—divine love.

“For in Jesus Christ neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision; but faith which worketh by love.” You say you have faith, but the question is, does your faith work? Has it been activated and enlivened by the current of divine love in the soul? Psalm 46:4 speaks of a river that brings gladness to the city of God. Is it not the river of love that flows from the throne of God; the river that carries upon its current all vessels of divine blessings of true faith, salvation, hope, joy, peace, and unity? And it is the electricity that activates spiritual gifts.

In John 17:20–26, we find Christ in His last moments entreating the Father that the Spirit of love which He shared with Him from eternity would also be in His disciples. Thereby, this love and unity in the body of Christ, His church, was to be the proof for the world to have faith. Christ opened a way of access to the divine electricity of life for all who believe in Him, world without end, that all men might have the opportunity to know Love intimately.

Christ was Love manifest in the flesh;

the fruit without the root, the vessels of blessings when the river which conducts them is dry.

Ask not for a revival of miracles and wonders. There is a desperate need for a revival of burning, Calvary love in human hearts! A love that sacrifices and gives its life. A love that humbles itself and is willing to be of no reputation. A love that becomes a servant, that forgives enemies, and values all men.

Above all things, brethren, it is this that we need, and once found, all the divine blessings that God has in store for His children will flow organically.

We know the prophecies, brethren, but do we know the love from which they flow? For “though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.”

“And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.”

“A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye have love one to another.” 📖

In Ezekiel chapter 8, we have the account of God taking the prophet Ezekiel, in a vision, to the temple in Jerusalem. The prophet is brought before the door of the court where he beholds a hole in the wall and is told:

And he brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, behold a hole in the wall...Son of man, dig now in the wall: and when I had digged in the wall, behold a door. And he said unto me, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here. So I went in and saw; and behold every form of creeping things, and abominable beasts, and all the idols of the house of Israel, portrayed upon the wall round about. And there stood before them seventy men of the ancients of the house of Israel...Then said he unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen what the ancients of the house of Israel do in the dark, every man in the chambers of his imagery? for they say, The Lord seeth us not; the Lord hath forsaken the earth. He said also unto me, Turn thee yet again, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they do.

The temple had been a sacred place for the people of Israel and part of a long-established, God-ordained religious system in the Old Testament dispensation. At this point in history, God had given

A HOLE IN THE WALL

SIS. SUSAN MUTCH

Israel over to their enemies. Long having their backs turned to God and carrying on abominable idolatries while maintaining a religious facade, their iniquity was now full—as was God’s wrath.

The world today is inundated with false religion—religion that was never God-ordained. The inspired Word of God refers to them as beasts. (Rev. 12:3, 13:1, 11.) You know them as Paganism, Catholicism and Protestantism. So accustomed are we to these that there is a relaxed sense of normalcy concerning them, but these systems are antichrist, Satan’s imitations, and seem-right ways to deceive souls and obscure God’s true church on the earth. They are a fractured and divided mess of confusion and a disgrace to the name of God Almighty. None represent biblical Christianity.

Dig behind the hole in the wall of these beastly systems and you will discover doors to abomination after abomination. It truly is a divine and necessary revelation to be enlightened to this truth.

Here I will briefly focus on but one of these beasts, the one known as the Catholic church. Most are aware of her dark history—of the millions tortured and martyred at her hand, of the abominable sexual crimes, and papal corruption.

Perhaps it may appear as but a hole in the wall to some; mere isolated incidents over the years. Sadly, it is not so. Dare to dig in the wall until the door is found. Many a Catholic hesitates. “I’ve always trusted in this tradition of religion.

Her rituals comfort me.” Yet, God urges you, “Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here.”

Her iniquity is in bursting fullness at this time, and God is exposing it for all to see. Catholics are currently reeling as they witness alarming abominations within their fold—helped on by their very own head, the left-leaning Pope Francis.

No secret is the history of horrific sexual abuse by pedophile priests, perhaps the most profoundly damaging abuse one can experience because it is perpetrated by those who are deeply trusted. Often victims find no justice as the Catholic church covers for the offenders.

Then there is the further abomination of nuns being used as sex slaves or prostitutes. Is there anything new here?

A recent headline from Louisiana told of a priest having sex with two women on the church altar, which he videotaped. Apparently, they could be clearly seen from the street. Most such things happen behind their closed doors.

Catholic school boards in Canada have perverse sexual curriculum, which they are fiercely pushing despite strong protests from parents nationwide. Unclean! Unclean!

Recently, a homosexual sex scandal involving local priests and a male prostitute shook the nation of Poland. Fr. Dariusz Oko, a priest of the Archdiocese of Krakow, has written several works about homosexual clergy, and called for a synod to discuss the problem. He stated that “Almost all major scandals of the church in recent decades, have been stirred up by clergymen who succumbed to their homosexual inclinations.”

Meanwhile, Pope Francis declared recently that the Catholic church could bless same-sex unions—on a case by case basis. Entrance level rhetoric, for we know what this will quickly lead to.

He also denounced the “backward” attitudes of conservatives in the U.S. Catholic church.

‘Great Reset’ playbook.” This is further evidenced by his recent climate activism and his calling for “global governance independent from changing conditions in the world.”

Catholic journalist John-Henry Westen said, “We are entering into a literal nightmare in the church.”

There has been an exodus of people from the Catholic church in recent decades. How could anyone associate with an unclean system—whether Catholic or Protestant?

Evil grows in the dark, and the darkness is the most woeful when shrouded in religion—so woeful that Holy Writ declares:

And is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.

To the dear Catholics who sincerely love God, be not dismayed! All this is meant to work for your good. God is actually calling you out!

And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.

Revelation 18:1-5.

It is time to write “Ichabod” on her walls and bid her adieu! “Come out of her” is a scriptural command. Do you not see her falling? Leave beastly religion and come home to God’s true fold, for He is gathering His people together in this end time.

Satan devised false systems of religion to keep honest souls separated. God does not want His sheep scattered. It is time for those who truly love God and who desire to stand on the sure foundation of His Word to be one.

“And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold: them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd.” John 10:16. 📖

RECKLESS AND HARMFUL

SIS. SUSAN MUTCH

The premier of Ontario recently stated that it is important for parents to be informed when a child makes a decision regarding gender change. This has greatly offended René Jansen in de Wal, President of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association.

“Premier Ford’s comments, which accused school boards and teachers of indoctrinating students...are shameful, disrespectful, and potentially harmful.” He went on to say that Catholic teachers strive to create a safe and welcoming environment for all, and to imbue classrooms with respect and inclusivity. It would seem they forgot about the need for “inclusivity” when they expelled Josh Alexander from his Catholic school for voicing his concern with the transgender bathroom policy and also for daring to say that there are only two genders. For doing so, he was deemed a bully. And this,

Mr. Jansen in de Wal boldly declared that “Catholic teachers will continue to strongly condemn any attempt to spread hate and bigotry in any form—including any attempt to pursue reckless or harmful policy. We will continue to stand in solidarity with 2SLGBTQIA+ students and communities.”

Hate and bigotry? Since when does disagreeing with someone mean you hate them? It has nothing to do with hating anybody, but such is the typical response from the idealogues. Deflect and demonize. Similarly, Canada’s Prime Minister, Justin Trudeau, responding to the national protest September 20th regarding parental rights and the radical sexualization of children in public schools, stated: “Let me make one thing perfectly clear: Transphobia, homophobia, and biphobia have no place in this country. We strongly condemn this hate and its manifestations, and we stand united in support of the 2SLGBTQI+ Canadians across the country. You are valid and you are valued.”

Gaslighting, as usual, he dismissed the whole point of the protest and ranted about “hate and its manifestations.” Neither were exhibited in this peaceful and constitutional protest.

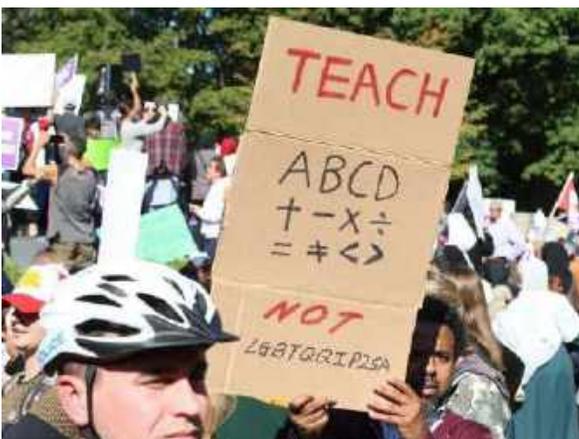

Is the LGBT community valued? Of course! Every one in the human family is valued. Are not those holding a differing opinion also valid and valued? It seems Mr. Trudeau has little tolerance for the “hateful” and “homophic” who interfere when the state is indoctrinating their children.

Such interference, Mr. Jansen in de Wal called a reckless and harmful policy. Reckless to inform parents of their child’s gender confusion (thanks to the teacher’s grooming and propaganda!)? Harmful to want to spare your young children from being exposed to all manner of radical sexualization? Who in their right mind could agree with such? As one expressed, “Even a staunch secular atheist should feel a deep-seated revolt and guilt promoting, defending, or even tolerating the grooming and indoctrination of little children to twist their nature simply to satisfy the leftists’ agenda.” And this is true.

The reckless and harmful are, in fact, the instigators and propagators who expose innocent children to such dire abuse. This radical ideology has infiltrated both religious and secular institutes. Never kowtow to its demand for tolerance. 📌

THE PROPHETIC CONSUMMATION

And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet. For they are the spirits of devils, working miracles, which go forth unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world, to gather them to the battle of that great day of God Almighty.

Revelation 16:13-14

THE LONGSUFFERING OF AGES is at length exhausted. The measure of earth's iniquity is at last full. The time is come for a decisive battle: the kings of the earth...throw themselves, in all their proud superiority of strength and numbers, upon "the camp of the saints" and upon "the beloved city."

Enough of palliatives and enough of compromises. Enough of human expedients for harmonising the irreconcilable, for making truth speak the speech of compliment, and toning down revelation till human reason shall flatter herself that she invented it. Not thus can the true life be lived, the reality of death faced, or a boundless eternity entered.

There must first be a war and a battle...a scheming of science falsely so-called, of reason set against revelation, and creatureship exalted into rivalry with the Creator. The war of spiritual combatants, the battle of the great day of God Almighty.

Thus we are enabled to contemplate, with awe but not with dismay, all that growing boldness and insolence of unbelief which seems to be characteristic of the last battle. It is all working up to a consummation—a consummation foreordained of God—a consummation revealed by Him in prophecy. The three unclean spirits which gather the invading powers to the battle of the great day are said to issue from the mouth of the dragon, and from the mouth of the beast, and from the mouth of the false prophet."

CHRIST WITHOUT THE GATE

BRO. ZACCHEUS BRAUN

“For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp. Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach.”

Hebrews 13:11-13

The animals which were offered up for sin in the Old Testament dispensation were always taken outside the camp and burned. In like manner, Jesus, being the direct fulfilment of those sacrifices, was led outside the gate of Jerusalem. He left the literal city of Jerusalem and was also willing to leave the “camp” of God's people, get out into the dark world, and bear the reproach of the gospel. Jesus was not merely a good church-goer; He went out and joined the outcasts of society.

During His lifetime, Christ associated Himself with sinners of the worst sort. He ate with publicans at their social gatherings, showed compassion to prostitutes, and consorted with people that other religious folk deemed far too wicked to even be around. People looked on and thought Jesus had lost His mind. They would never connect themselves to such “base” sinners. Jesus spent so much time with sinners that He earned the nickname “Friend of sinners.” He won the hearts of the friendless by becoming friendless Himself. He joined in with humanity, and while never becoming a sinner, He became an outcast with the outcasts.

Moreover, at His death, Jesus was indeed an outcast. When hung on the cross between two notorious criminals, He was viewed in the public eye as being on the same level of criminality and deserving the same punishment; but at the same time, what moved the thief beside Him to repentance was Christ's willingness to join him in the punishment and reproach for his sin. Jesus was despised, rejected, spat upon, beaten, and murdered in the end. He was more than a martyr, for He did not die to retain His own integrity, but He died for the sins of others.

Had He chosen not to die, He would have remained perfectly just and righteous. Yet, because of His great love and His tender care for the human race, He died as a ransom for all. Although He never joined sinners in their sin, He met them in their state of helplessness and shame. He was willing to be made subject to the greatest embarrassment of all time. The Great Omnipotent made Himself needy and helpless to be able to meet people at their wit's end and know how they felt. Christ Himself was at His wit's end in Gethsemane when He cried, "Let this cup pass from Me, Father!" Throughout His life and all the way to His death, Christ showed forth a pattern of joining in with the masses of suffering humanity.

Now therefore, we, as His body, must follow Christ "without the camp, bearing His reproach." We must get outside of our church-houses and join the downtrodden of humanity, to the point that we will be associated with them and thereby looked down on as well. In order for us to reach the world, we must also be willing to be called "friends of sinners." People will know how much we love them by how much we are willing to suffer with them.

When they see the church crucified with Christ, they will believe. The broken-hearted of this world will be made whole as they see our hearts broken for them. The weary and heavy-laden in sin may be saved when we weary ourselves in God's service and are heavy-laden with His burden of love. Those who are despised in the world will be moved as we are willing to be despised and reproached for Christ's sake.

When we join Christ without the gate and become outcasts with the outcasts, then will the outcasts come in. Those who are troubled and in distress need a David who will be in trouble with them. Only when we hurt with the hurting multitudes are we qualified to offer them healing. We will never be able to touch the lives of those who cry themselves to sleep if we can never mourn with them in their time of distress. We will never have an answer to all the world's suffering until we ourselves become "men and women of sorrows" and become familiar with grief.

Our most persuasive and convincing message of love to the world is our willingness to give up our own comforts for the sake of their salvation. Let us then join Christ without the gate. 📖

STATEMENT OF THE CHURCH OF GOD ON WAR

We, the members of the Church of God, are in all things willing to live honestly, believing that our governments are ordained of God. The Holy Bible teaches us, however, that our first duty is to God. "And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment. And the second is like, namely this, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. There is none other commandment greater than these." (Mark 12:30-31).

Jesus taught His followers, "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you and persecute you; that you may be the children of your Father which is in heaven" (Matthew 5:44-45; see also verse 39).

There are many other scriptures which forbid us to participate in warfare (i.e., John 18:36; Matthew 26:52; Romans 12:14, 17, 19-21). Because of such express admonitions, we maintain the following positions as to war:

We are conscientiously opposed to participation in war of any form at any time, whether civil, political, or religious.

We are conscientiously opposed to the draft for military service.

We are conscientiously opposed to accepting noncombatant military service in warfare or to work in any factory or plant which is directly engaged in producing instruments or munitions for the destruction of human life.

We are conscientiously opposed to the purchase of defense or war bonds and stamps for the financing and prosecution of war.

We pray for our leaders and for all that are in authority, that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness. Governments, however, have no divine authority to compel us to violate our consciences or beliefs which are held in sincere, righteous, and good faith.

Where government mandates and agendas go against the plain teachings of the Holy Bible, we must conscientiously object and obey God above the government.
